"Offer constructive criticism rather than an ignorable opinion"-anon.

"Art, like music and literature, is not a recreational luxury or the purview of the rich. Rather, it is an essential tool for living to which everyone must have access, because it helps awaken and direct the individual talent whose development is essential to society, especially a democratic one. Art, after all, is one of the places where the pursuit of happiness gains focus and purpose and starts expanding outward; to aid and abet that thing called the greater good." ~ Harold Wolpert
