Subject: Gentle Reminder: Request for Feedback on Thesis Proposal

Dear Professor Johnson,

I hope this email finds you well and thriving in your various academic and personal endeavors. I am writing to gently remind you of my thesis proposal, which I submitted for your review on February 20th, 2024. Your feedback is incredibly valuable to me as I navigate through this crucial phase of my academic journey.

Details of the Submission:

- Title of Thesis Proposal: "Innovations in Renewable Energy: A Comparative Analysis"
- Submitted On: February 20th, 2024
- Submission Method: Email attachment

I understand the demands on your time are considerable, and I appreciate your dedication to fostering the academic growth of your students. If you have had the chance to review my proposal and could provide any insights, suggestions, or approval at your earliest convenience, it would greatly assist me in moving forward with my research.

Should you require any additional information, or if a meeting to discuss the proposal in detail would be beneficial, please do not hesitate to let me know. I am more than willing to accommodate your schedule.

Thank you once again for your guidance and support. I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Best regards,

Michael Thompson Master's Candidate in Environmental Science University of State
