

Humanities Project Evaluation Essay

For the last few weeks, you have been working on the Humanities project concerning the novel The God of Small Things. You need to write an evaluative essay on this experience following the guidelines for essay writing: size 12 font, double spaced, effective paragraph development thoroughly documented with factual support etc.

You are not limited to the following suggestions, but at the least, cover thoroughly the following areas in your essay:

- The Novel – What life lessons did you learn from reading the novel?
- The Project Preparation – How did the project reflect and/or enhance your understanding of the novel?
- The Project Presentation / Madison experience – How would you assess our school's projects compared to those presented at the conference?
- Other - What have you learned through this entire process? Would you recommend AP being involved in this state-wide project next year if it were offered? Why / Why not? How would you assess your preparation / participation in this project and why? (indicate grade and justification)
