Simile Poems: Read the example and answer the questions

New Notebook

Lines

in a new notebook

run, even and fine

like telephone wires across a snowy landscape.

With wet, black strokes the alphabet settles between them, comfortable as a flock of crows.

MRS. TROY'S SAMPLE SIMILE POEM: I choose to base my simile poem on an immigrant coming to work in America at the Triangle Factory in 1911.

Simile/Comparison Ideas	What does this simile mean?	Corresponding Imagery/Sensory Words	One Element of Personification
Atlantic Ocean is like a mirror	Reflecting what is left behind and what lies ahead	sparkling giant waves glistening reflecting golden sunlight	The ocean whispered
The streets of New York are as shiny as the stars in the sky	Stars are beautiful and people wish upon a star, so there are a lot of dreams people pour into the sidewalks of New York	Blazing Metallic Silver shimmering
The people are live the waves in an ocean	The streets are full of people crashing into each other and moving together toward their jobs like the waves to the shore	Rumble sloshing

MRS. Troy's Sample:

An Immigrant's Journey

As I leave my home in Italy

The Atlantic ocean is like a mirror with giant sparkling waves glistening

And reflecting the past and present

As the salty water whispers goodbye and hello

The streets of New York are as shiny

As the shimmering metallic stars above with each step I wish and hope for a great new life

Passing by the people like waves in the ocean

Hustling and rushing from one place to the next

Similes are in yellow/orange

Personification is in blue

STUDENT PLANNING PAGE (your poem can be written right below the planning table. Remember it is a free verse poem, so you don't need to have a specific format).

Use the list of "Ideas for Symbols and Metaphors" in our Google Classroom or on my class page, along with the sensory word lists and links above to help you create your similes if needed--all you need to do is add the words as OR like.
