

WHAT TO EXPECT

WHEN TO SCHEDULE:

The best time to schedule a newborn session is during your pregnancy. I will add your due date to my calendar. When your baby actually arrives, contact me asap, and we will finalize your session.

THE SESSION:

The most precious time to photograph a newborn is between 5-10 days of life. Why so early? During this time, babies have usually retained some of the natural curl and flexibility from their time in the womb. Newborn babies are also more sleepy and tolerant of being posed for the most desired images. Your curling, sleeping newborn will make for the most meaningful photographs.

Expect to spend around 2 hours at our session. I'm going to follow your baby's cues, so if you relax and go with the flow, it will go more smoothly. We'll take breaks as needed so you can feed your baby.
