

Research Proposal Template

After receiving approval for my plan from my administrator, I will announce that my classroom is now a NO FAIL ZONE. This announcement will explain my plan of action to the students in detail. I will also send a parent letter home (attached), asking for a parent signature in return. I will post the new policy on my website as well.

Any assignment that I have assigned has never been and will never be "busy work". Each assignment has been selected as practice or review on the standard course of study concepts required for sixth grade math. Every assignment is important and will be treated as such.

Students without an assignment will be given a "one day grace period" from consequences. The only action will be a "reminder" email to the parent. Since the majority of my gifted students are extremely responsible and often overly concerned about their grades, this will help alleviate excessive worry for those that have an occasional misstep along the way.

I am available for tutoring every morning for those who are having difficulty with a concept. This discourages the student for using the "I don't get it" excuse.

If the student does not bring the late assignment or the currently due assignment, then the student is on probation.

Probation requires the student to work on the missing assignment(s) during their lunch period at a "silent lunch" table.
