Dear Class of 2018,

Our names are Nina, Berkeley, and Wyatt, and we are seniors in Mather, Lowell, and Quincy, concentrating in social studies (x2) and psychology, respectively. Over the last few years, you have probably introduced yourself this way countless times. We identify ourselves here with our Class, residential, and academic communities at the forefront. As freshmen, we were hyperaware of our class year. We huddled in groups: on that blistering August day when we celebrated our Convocation, through activity fairs we traversed with wide-eyes, and in each meal we shared in Annenberg. But over the course of our time here, our paths have diverged, and we developed our own identities and communities around campus; we no longer see all our friends in the same few introductory classes, and we eat in 12 different dining halls. You probably think of yourself more as a choreographer for Expressions, a member of the soccer team, a writer for The Crimson, or a representative to the UC rather than a senior in your concentration living in your House.

But unlike these other parts of our identity at Harvard, we never put effort into our three core identities. While here, we have always been students, residents in our dorms and Houses, and members of the Class of 2018. These three communities—our academic, residential, and social ones—are permanent. Being a member of the Harvard Class of 2018 is an identity we will carry with us for the rest of our lives, and we will soon join the ranks of our predecessors, enjoined to do our part in shaping the communities in which we find ourselves. But no matter where our journeys beyond Harvard take us, we have the comfort in knowing that our bonds here will link us.

As we head toward Commencement, we hope you can reconnect with classmates to whom you have not spoken since Opening Days and even form new connections across our Class. Your Senior Class Committee is eager to spend the coming months recreating the moments of solidarity that we felt as freshmen, but this time with the confidence of seniors. You will find enclosed all the details you need to enjoy Senior Week and Commencement Week to the fullest. We look forward to creating these memories with you!

With all best wishes,

Nina Srivastava

SENIOR WEEK ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

Senior Week is only for Harvard College seniors. No guests are allowed at any Senior Week event. Entry to all ticketed Senior Week events requires a valid ticket, valid Harvard University ID (HUID), and a valid government ID. Tickets bear the name of the senior and are non-refundable and non-transferable. You cannot give or sell your ticket to another person.

The Moonlight Cruise, the Last Chance Dance, and the Senior Soirée are 21+ events.

No one is allowed to bring alcohol to any Senior Week event. You must be at least 21 years old to drink alcohol at any Senior Week event. Your birth date appears on your HUID; however, this is NOT a valid ID for proof of age. Acceptable identification for age verification is a valid government ID accompanied by a HUID. For entry at 21+ events and for alcohol service at any event, international students should carry their passports. Failure to have both a government ID and a HUID will result in the denial of entry at 21+ events and in the denial of alcohol service at all events.

The presentation of false identification is a violation of University rules and Massachusetts law. Students violating these rules will be subject to disciplinary sanctions. Because of the liability involved, any obvious or widespread violation of the regulations may result in the cancellation of subsequent Senior Week events.

Any student who creates, distributes, or attempts to use a fraudulent ticket to enter a Senior Week event or otherwise violates the policies outlined herein may be referred to the Office of Academic Integrity and Student Conduct.

FAQS

WHAT IS SENIOR GIFT?

Senior Gift is a long-standing tradition for members of the Senior Class in which they come together to make their first gift in support of one another and future Harvard students. The Harvard experience is not possible through tuition alone. Senior Gift contributions to the Harvard College Fund have an immediate impact on current students and directly benefit key areas of student life such as financial aid, advising, athletics, and House life. The Senior Gift Campaign runs from Thursday, March 22, 2018, until Monday, April 30, 2018. You can make your gift at alumni.harvard.edu/seniorgift.

You must complete the online senior exit survey, titled “Senior Survey,” before you pick up your Commencement Week tickets. Each senior must pick up their own tickets in person. No tickets (allotted, free, or purchased) will be available onsite at Commencement Week events. Please make an effort to pick up your tickets early; you can expect a considerable wait during the last days of Senior Desk. ARE THERE SPECIAL ARRANGEMENTS FOR INDIVIDUALS WITH DISABILITIES?

Harvard University encourages people with disabilities to participate in its programs and activities, including Senior Week and Commencement Week. If you anticipate needing accommodation or have questions about the physical access provided, please call the Harvard Alumni Association (HAA) at 617-496-7001 or email haa_collegealumniprograms@harvard.edu.

Accessible seating and other accommodations for individuals with disabilities are available in Tercentenary Theatre on Commencement Day. Accessible seating tickets are available on a first-come, first-served basis and will be distributed until all tickets are gone. In order to accommodate as many family members and friends with disabilities as possible in the reserved seating area, individuals with an accessible seating ticket will be permitted to have one companion accompany them into the accessible seating section. The companion must also have an accessible seating ticket. Harvard will make every effort to accommodate parents and guests with general seating tickets who need accessible accommodation on Commencement Day.

Graduating seniors should submit a request for accessible seating tickets as soon as possible. Requests should be submitted at alumni.harvard.edu/accessibleseating prior to Friday, April 20. Confirmation of requested tickets and instructions for claiming them will be emailed thereafter.

The accessible seating section is located adjacent to University Hall and will be clearly marked with the International Symbol of Access. Wheelchair runner assistance from the entrance gate to the guest's seat in Tercentenary Theatre is provided as a courtesy on Commencement Day.

Guests are encouraged to arrive early on Commencement Day to avoid some of the crowding that usually takes place after 8:30 a.m. Gates open at 6:45 a.m. First aid stations and wheelchair-accessible restrooms will be located in Sever, Weld, and Thayer Halls. For information about accessible parking, transportation, or other resources: please visit commencement.harvard.edu/guests-disabilities.
