

Funeral Biography of a Sister

Emily Rose Carter was born on March 3, 1988, in San Francisco, California. As a cherished sister, daughter, and friend, Emily brought joy and warmth to everyone who knew her. Growing up, she had a special bond with her siblings, always supporting them and sharing in life's adventures. Emily attended the University of California, Berkeley, where she studied psychology and was known for her compassion and desire to help others.

Emily had a zest for life and a passion for travel, exploring countries across Europe and Asia. She loved experiencing new cultures and meeting people from all walks of life. Her curiosity and adventurous spirit were infectious, inspiring those around her to embrace the world with open arms. Emily's friends and family admired her for her kindness, empathy, and ability to light up any room with her laughter.

As a devoted sister, Emily shared countless memories with her brothers, Josh and Ethan, who remember her as a confidant, supporter, and best friend. She had a special gift for making each of them feel loved and understood, and her presence will be deeply missed. Emily was also a talented artist, spending her free time painting and sharing her creations with loved ones.

Emily's legacy is one of love, creativity, and compassion. She leaves behind a profound impact on her family and friends, who will always remember her as a shining light in their lives. Although she is no longer with us, her memory will live on in the hearts of those who loved her.

Emily is survived by her parents, her two brothers, Josh and Ethan, and a close circle of friends who were like family to her. She was a remarkable sister and friend, and her life will continue to inspire those she leaves behind.