

Funeral Biography of a Father

John Edward Davis was born on July 22, 1965, in Cleveland, Ohio. A devoted husband, father, and friend, John was known for his strong work ethic, kind heart, and sense of humor. He spent his early years in Cleveland, where he developed a love for sports and the outdoors. After graduating from Ohio State University with a degree in engineering, he built a successful career as a civil engineer, helping to design bridges and roads across the state.

John married his college sweetheart, Laura, and together they raised two children, Michael and Rebecca. He was a dedicated father who always put his family first. John took pride in attending his children's soccer games, school events, and family trips, creating cherished memories along the way. He was not just a father, but also a mentor and role model, teaching his children the importance of integrity, hard work, and kindness.

Outside of work and family, John had a passion for fishing and often spent his weekends by the lake. He loved to share this hobby with his children, passing down his knowledge and appreciation for nature. He was also an active member of his community, volunteering at local shelters and participating in neighborhood events. His warm presence and willingness to help others left a lasting impression on everyone he met.

John's legacy is one of love, resilience, and generosity. He will be deeply missed by his family, friends, and all who had the privilege of knowing him. John leaves behind a lasting impact, and his memory will live on in the hearts of those who loved him.

John is survived by his beloved wife, Laura, his children, Michael and Rebecca, and his siblings, as well as a host of friends and extended family members. He was a pillar of strength and kindness, and his life will continue to inspire those he leaves behind.
