Grammar Notes

Coordinating conjunctions (also sometimes called coordinators) join words, phrases, or clauses of equal weight or importance in a sentence.

When they are used to join two independent clauses, a comma is placed before the conjunction.

For example:

- "Seoul is a large city. It is located in Asia."
- "Seoul is a large city, and it is located in Asia."

When they are used to join compound predicates, a comma is NOT placed before the conjunction.

For example:

- "We ate popcorn at the cinema. We drank cola at the cinema."
- "We ate popcorn and drank cola at the cinema."
