

A penny for your thoughts in Sentence Examples

- Sarah seemed lost in thought during the meeting, so her boss finally asked, "A penny for your thoughts?"
- As I glanced at Mark staring out of the window, I couldn't help but say, "A penny for your thoughts, buddy."
- "You've been quiet all evening. A penny for your thoughts?" Jane inquired during dinner.
- During the long drive, Emily finally broke the silence and said, "A penny for your thoughts, Dave."
- When Lisa noticed her friend looking downcast, she gently prodded, "A penny for your thoughts, Karen."
- The teacher noticed Tim was distracted and asked, "A penny for your thoughts? You seem far away."
- "You look contemplative. A penny for your thoughts?" asked Sam, noticing that Carol was unusually silent.
- "You've been staring at that painting for a while now. A penny for your thoughts?" the gallery owner asked.
- Mary seemed deep in thought while looking at the old photographs, prompting her sister to say, "A penny for your thoughts?"
- "You haven't said a word since we started hiking. A penny for your thoughts?" said Mike, turning to his friend.

- Noticing his partner's hesitation during the negotiation, Steve asked, "A penny for your thoughts?"
- "You were pretty quiet during the movie. A penny for your thoughts?" Linda asked her husband.
- During their anniversary dinner, Emily asked her spouse, "A penny for your thoughts? You seem a little distant."
- "You've been scrolling through your phone for the past hour. A penny for your thoughts?" Sara asked her brother.
- When Jenny saw her son's dejected face after the game, she hugged him and said, "A penny for your thoughts, champ."
- "You've barely touched your food. A penny for your thoughts?" said the concerned mother to her daughter.
- Noticing his friend's sudden change in mood, Aaron asked, "A penny for your thoughts, man?"
- "You've been tapping your pen on the notebook but haven't written anything. A penny for your thoughts?" said the librarian to the student.
- During the staff meeting, the project manager said, "Everyone is so quiet. A penny for your thoughts, team?"
- As they watched the sunset together, Olivia turned to her fiancé and softly asked, "A penny for your thoughts?"