

Actions speak louder than words

Idiom in Sentence

Examples

- Sarah always talked about wanting to help the environment, but it was when she started the recycling program at school that we realized her actions speak louder than words.
- He kept promising to repair the broken fence, but when he finally did it, I understood that actions speak louder than words.
- "You can say you care about your grades, but your lack of studying shows that actions speak louder than words."
- The politician had many speeches about reform, but it wasn't until he passed significant legislation that we realized actions speak louder than words.
- Jane said she was committed to the project, but her consistent tardiness proved that actions speak louder than words.
- "You say you're a team player, but your actions speak louder than words when you never participate in group tasks."
- "If you truly love someone, actions speak louder than words; so show it, don't just say it."
- The CEO promised better working conditions, but it was the immediate improvement in the staff rooms that proved actions speak louder than words.

- "Saying sorry is easy, making amends shows that actions speak louder than words."
- "Actions speak louder than words; your kindness towards animals truly shows your compassion."
- "You may say you support local businesses, but shopping at big box stores shows actions speak louder than words."
- "You've apologized many times, but actions speak louder than words; you need to change your behavior."
- He claimed to be an expert chef, but his actual dishes proved that actions speak louder than words.
- "You say you value this relationship, but your actions speak louder than words when you forget our anniversary."
- She always talks about dieting but never exercises, clearly a case where actions speak louder than words.
- The government claimed to prioritize public transport, but the new infrastructure projects showed that their actions speak louder than words.
- "You say you're committed to the job, but actions speak louder than words, and you've been late three times this week."
- "Actions speak louder than words; instead of discussing the environmental issues, get involved in community clean-ups."
- "You claim to be an ally, but unless you stand up against injustice, your actions speak louder than words."
- "Actions speak louder than words; if you want to be known as generous, you should start donating to charity instead of just talking about it."