

100 Adverb of Time Examples

- He left earlier than I expected.
- The event will happen tomorrow.
- They arrived late for the party.
- She will call you soon.
- The movie starts now.
- He has been working there since 2015.
- We'll meet later in the evening.
- She always wakes up early.
- The story took place long ago.
- I have seen him recently.
- Will you be free afterwards?
- He finished the project quickly.
- I have been waiting forever.
- We'll see each other again next week.
- The meeting was initially scheduled for Monday.
- She has lived here formerly.
- The birds migrate annually.
- The sun rises daily.
- They'll be here momentarily.
- The package will arrive shortly.

- I saw her yesterday.
- We'll decide then.
- It happened suddenly.
- We can go nowadays without technology.
- I'm leaving immediately.
- The show is currently on break.
- I've known her ever since childhood.
- The sale starts today.
- I have not seen him lately.
- The legend says it happened once upon a time.
- The train departed on time.
- The winter comes yearly.
- He ran continuously for an hour.
- She appeared abruptly.
- The shop closes temporarily at noon.
- We danced all night.
- The flowers bloom seasonally.
- The event was finally over.
- He occasionally visits.
- The mail arrives regularly.
- Let's discuss this now.
- He will return someday.
- They've known each other forever.
- The assignment is due next week.
- The test is already done.
- I'll be there in a minute.
- The plane will land soon.

- The bell rings daily at noon.
- She called just now.
- We've lived here always.
- I've been ready for a while.
- The game starts tonight.
- The letter came last month.
- The story happened long before we were born.
- He left suddenly without a word.
- The event will happen weekly.
- The festival takes place every year.
- The chores are done daily.
- They left the day after the party.
- He called first thing in the morning.
- I haven't heard from him in ages.
- They'll arrive in a few days.
- The story begins in the distant past.
- We'll leave at once.
- They've been friends since childhood.
- She visited last summer.
- The concert is this weekend.
- We'll go shopping afterwards.
- The task needs completion by tomorrow.
- She writes to him monthly.
- The festival occurs biannually.
- I'll finish the task by then.
- The show airs weekly.
- He moved out recently.

- We met the other day.
- The fireworks happen annually.
- I'll call you right away.
- They visited Paris last year.
- I've been waiting for hours.
- The movie is starting presently.
- He had left just before I arrived.
- They will leave in an hour.
- The train comes everyday.
- I saw her the moment I walked in.
- The letter arrived earlier today.
- He's been working here for years.
- We'll meet next time.
- The competition is next month.
- The sale ends tomorrow.
- I'll see you soon.
- He lived there previously.
- We went skiing last winter.
- I'll finish the work by tonight.
- The conference is in a week.
- They visited the following day.
- We'll meet in a moment.
- The news broke yesterday evening.
- He left a moment ago.
- I'll be ready in no time.