

Call it a day Idiom in Sentence Examples

- After working on the report for six hours, Sarah decided to call it a day.
- We finished painting the living room by noon and called it a day.
- The director wasn't satisfied with the shoot but eventually had to call it a day due to bad weather.
- After hiking for miles, we reached a beautiful lookout and thought it was a perfect spot to call it a day.
- We've been brainstorming for a while and haven't reached a solution; let's call it a day and revisit this tomorrow.
- The coach saw the players were exhausted and decided to call it a day on practice.
- I've cleaned the kitchen, vacuumed the house, and done the laundry; I think I'll call it a day.
- After three hours of fruitless negotiations, the committee decided to call it a day.
- The mechanic worked on the car all morning but had to call it a day when he realized he didn't have the necessary parts.
- She read through half the manuscript, left a bookmark, and called it a day.
- The stock traders called it a day after seeing a slight uptick in the market.

- After doing five sets of rigorous exercises, he felt it was time to call it a day at the gym.
- The baker finished decorating the last cake and knew it was time to call it a day.
- After several failed attempts to solve the equation, the students decided to call it a day.
- The band played their final encore and called it a day, exiting the stage to loud applause.
- We've reached our sales target for the month, so let's call it a day and celebrate.
- After scanning through dozens of resumes without finding a suitable candidate, the HR manager decided to call it a day.
- She completed three laps around the park and then called it a day due to muscle cramps.
- After writing four chapters of his new book, the author decided it was a good point to call it a day.
- They've been fishing since morning without catching anything; disappointed but resigned, they decided to call it a day.