

100 Personification Figurative Speech Examples

- The sun smiled down on us.
- The moon hid behind the clouds, playing hide and seek.
- The trees danced in the wind.
- The ocean hugged the shoreline.
- The flowers nodded their heads in agreement.
- Time flies when you're having fun.
- The old car groaned into third gear.
- Opportunity knocked on her door.
- The camera loves her every angle.
- The alarm clock screamed at me this morning.
- The stars winked from the sky.
- The wind howled its mighty objection.
- The mountains reached for the sky.
- The fog smothered the city.
- The fire swallowed the entire forest.
- The thunder grumbled like an old man.
- The door complained as it opened.
- The waves whispered to the sandy shore.
- The house stared at me with looming eyes.
- The headlights pierced through the darkness.
- The shadows held their breath.
- The night sang its lullaby.

- The hurricane's eye watched over everything.
- The candle flame danced.
- The clouds cried their tears of sorrow.
- The avalanche devoured everything in its path.
- The volcano spewed out its anger.
- The cake is calling my name.
- The snow blanketed the city with its cold.
- The old bridge groaned under the weight.
- The sunflowers turned their heads to watch the sun.
- The rain played a beautiful song on the roof.
- The radio drowned out our conversation.
- The storm chased the people indoors.
- The grass tickled my feet.
- The chocolate bar was begging to be eaten.
- The tornado's fury was uncontrollable.
- The piano sang a melody.
- The kettle whistled with excitement.
- The moonlight tiptoed through the window.
- The leaves rustled their gossip.
- The tulips blushed in the sun's gaze.
- The train hissed to a stop.
- The vines reached out to the light.
- The horizon swallowed the setting sun.
- The book holds a world inside.
- The roses held their breath, glistening with dew.
- The blanket hugged me tight.
- The old stairs creaked in protest.

- The ancient walls whispered secrets.
- The wind carried the town's tales.
- The fire crackled, telling its story.
- The rock stubbornly resisted the river's flow.
- The mailbox waited patiently for letters.
- The river sang a haunting song.
- The chocolate melted in defiance.
- The clock's hands raced each other.
- The river's mouth devoured the land.
- The shoes complained of wear and tear.
- The sun burst into the morning.
- The windows gazed out into the world.
- The roses wept their petals.
- The thunder applauded the performance.
- The curtain whispered tales of the past.
- The path meandered through the forest.
- The pen danced gracefully on paper.
- The car coughed and spluttered to life.
- The apple beckoned from the tree.
- The breeze carried secrets.
- The hills rolled lazily in the distance.
- The ancient tree stretched its arms.
- The city lights twinkled in delight.
- The snowflakes kissed my face.
- The keys on the keyboard chattered away.
- The brook giggled at the fish.
- The wind serenaded the night.

- The coffee warmed my soul.
- The sky draped in a cloak of stars.
- The ladder reached for heights.
- The lampshade blushed with a dim light.
- The door yawned open.
- The gloves hugged my hands snugly.
- The wine whispered its vintage tales.
- The clouds painted pictures in the sky.
- The desert stretched its endless limbs.
- The old book inhaled deeply, opening its pages.
- The waterfall roared its might.
- The chair sighed under the weight.
- The attic harbored old memories.
- The feather floated, dreaming of the sky.
- The diary captured whispers of the heart.
- The winter's cold fingers pinched my cheeks.
- The flames leapt up, eager to consume.
- The pathway remembered many footsteps.
- The cake was oozing charm.
- The thunder announced the storm's arrival.
- The hills stood tall and proud.
- The butter slid lazily on the hot pan.
- The ice cream dripped in protest.
- The quilt enveloped me with memories.