

Play It by Ear Idiom in Sentence Examples

- Navigating the New City: We didn't have a map or GPS, so we decided to play it by ear and explore the neighborhood.
- Work Projects: Since we're not sure when the client will give us the green light, we'll just have to play it by ear.
- Family Gatherings: Sarah didn't want to commit to bringing a specific dish for Thanksgiving; she'd rather play it by ear based on what everyone else is making.
- Travel Plans: Our itinerary isn't set in stone; we're just going to play it by ear depending on the weather.
- Business Strategy: The startup wasn't sure which market would respond best to their product, so they played it by ear in the first few months.
- School Assignments: I haven't decided on a topic for my essay yet; I'm going to play it by ear after doing some research.
- Concert Attendance: The band hadn't decided on the setlist for their next gig; they wanted to play it by ear based on the crowd's mood.
- Romantic Relationships: Neither of them wanted to define the relationship yet, preferring to play it by ear for a while.
- Investment Strategy: Given the market volatility, Angela chose to play it by ear rather than stick to a rigid investment plan.

- Dinner Plans: Since we don't know what time the meeting will end, let's play it by ear before deciding where to eat.
- Job Interviews: I didn't rehearse any answers; I thought I'd play it by ear and respond naturally to the questions.
- Exercise Routine: I don't have a fixed workout schedule; I play it by ear depending on how I feel each day.
- Home Renovation: We didn't have a blueprint for the kitchen remodel, choosing instead to play it by ear as the project progressed.
- Social Events: Rather than RSVP to all the holiday parties, I'm going to play it by ear based on my workload.
- Public Speaking: Tom didn't prepare a script for his speech; he decided to play it by ear and speak from the heart.
- Camping Trips: We didn't book any campgrounds in advance; we just packed our gear and decided to play it by ear.
- Car Repairs: The mechanic couldn't determine the exact issue with the engine, so he had to play it by ear as he went along.
- Fashion Choices: Instead of planning her outfits for the week, Maria liked to play it by ear based on her mood.
- Parenting Approach: When it comes to disciplining their kids, some parents prefer to play it by ear rather than follow strict guidelines.
- Grocery Shopping: I didn't make a shopping list this time; I'm just going to play it by ear and buy what looks good.