

Sky of Emotions

As I sit here on the grass on this warm sunny day

I look up at the great big warm sky

I ask myself, "What do I see when I look up? "

I answered to myself, "I see warmth, happiness, love, and a place where I can be accepted

When I look up at the sky I feel like I'm looking at the home I've been searching for all my life

When I look up at the sky I see a place where I will be accepted

When I look up at the sky I see a place where someone or something is waiting for me with open arms

I also see peace when I look up

A place where hate doesn't even exist

The sky a place of warmth, happiness, peace, love and acceptance
