

2 Minute Self Introduction Speech in College

A 2-minute self-introduction speech in college should be concise, engaging, and focused on key points that help your audience understand who you are. Here's a structure you can follow:

1. Opening with a Greeting:

Start by greeting your audience in a polite and professional manner. Example: "Good morning/afternoon everyone," or "Hello, professors and fellow classmates."

2. State Your Name and Major:

Introduce yourself by stating your name and your major. Example: "My name is [Your Name], and I'm majoring in [Your Major] here at [College Name]."

3. Share Academic Interests or Field of Study:

Briefly mention your academic interests or what drew you to your field of study. Example:

"I'm passionate about [specific area of study], especially [specific topics or subjects], and I'm excited to learn more about it during my time here."

4. Mention Achievements or Projects:

Highlight one or two achievements or academic projects that reflect your strengths. Example:

"In high school, I completed a research project on [topic] that helped me develop a deeper understanding of [subject]."

5. Discuss Extracurricular Activities or Hobbies:

Mention any extracurricular activities, clubs, or personal hobbies that complement your academic life. Example:

"Outside of academics, I'm involved in [clubs, organizations] and enjoy [hobbies]."

6. State Your Goals:

Talk about what you aim to achieve in college, either academically or personally. Example:

"During my time at [College Name], I'm focused on gaining research experience in [field] and developing my leadership skills through [specific club/activity]."

7. Closing with a Thank You:

Conclude your introduction by thanking your audience. Example:

"Thank you for the opportunity to introduce myself. I look forward to learning and growing alongside all of you in the coming years."
